Wise Words:
Suffering in itself does not make us holy. It is only when we unite it, out of love, the suffering of Christ that it has meaning. Suffering without love is wasted pain. - Mother Angelica

Jesus as Saviour

OUR LORD JESUS CHRIST KING OF THE UNIVERSE

Much that had been anticipated in the birth stories of Jesus comes now to tragic and glorious fulfilment on the cross. Gabriel had promised Mary that her child would inherit 'the throne of David his father, and he will rule over the house of Jacob'; so fittingly the cross proclaims that he is 'the King of the Jews'. The angels had announced to the shepherds, 'a saviour has been born for you who is Christ the Lord'; on the cross three times his power to save is tested and he is addressed as Messiah (= 'Christ'). This last title, 'the Christ of God', was the one by which Peter acknowledged Jesus. On the cross there are even reminiscences of the devil's temptation of Jesus in the wilderness when he twice challenged Jesus, 'If you are the Son of God, do such and such'; at the cross the soldiers challenge him, 'If you are King of the Jews, save yourself'. The birth stories and temptations have been narrated carefully with the cross always in view. In just the same way the ministry of Jesus to save sinners comes ironically to fulfilment on the cross.

The rulers rightly (though only in ridicule) affirm that 'he saved others': and indeed he has. Jesus had himself summarised the meaning of his ministry when he announced to Zacchaeus, 'For the Son of Man has come to seek and to save what was lost'. But Jesus had also said, 'Whoever seeks to preserve his life will lose it, but whoever loses it will save it'. To accede to the rulers' taunt to 'save himself' would mean that he would have lost himself and failed in his mission. So, true to his own teaching, he loses his life and thereby does he 'save himself and us'. And, anticipating the salvation he extends to the world, the Saviour-King promises paradise to the repentant thief.

Dear friends, as you know our first collection for sustaining the priest in this parish is in deficit for the last few years. Thus we would like to recommend to you leaving a gift in a part of your will to the first collection. There's a spiritual power to the bequest as experienced by St Teresa of Jesus. Please contact Father Adrian for more information. Thank you for your consideration.
