Pope Francis speaks about Pope St John XXIII

“Christianity,” the Pope highlights in the interview, “is not an ideal to follow, a philosophy to adhere to or a moral to be applied,” but is rather “an encounter with Jesus Christ that makes us recognize in the flesh of brothers and sisters His very presence.” It requires going to “the heart” of the Gospel.

This, the Holy Father urges, is an invitation for us “to share the bread with the hungry, to cure the sick, the elderly, those who can not give us anything, nothing in return.” The story of Angelo Giuseppe Roncalli who would become St Pope John XXIII, Francis said, is composed of these “gestures of closeness” with the suffering and the needy, regardless of their religion.

The Church, the Pope said, is by nature “missionary,” adding She must go out to witness the Gospel.

Otherwise, he warned, it will become “self-referential” and “ideological.”

Faced with the “barbarization of society,” Francis says it is necessary to look at people and truth, especially because man has free will and responsibility and can either engage in understanding and encounter or opposition and war.

Francis lamented that even in the Church “when one does not live the logic of communion but of corporations,” there are dangers that strategies of war can be waged against others for power or roles.

Hence, he stressed: “It is precisely people who are the antidote to falsehoods, not strategies.”

First Holy Communion

At next Sunday’s (Feast of Corpus Christi) 10:00am Mass, children from the Parish will celebrate their First Holy Communion.
 Morning tea in the Parish Centre after Mass.

Joy of the Gospel

This is a two day – Friday 29th and Saturday 30th
 June encounter with the Good News of Jesus Christ. It will be held in Canberra at St Christopher’s Pastoral Centre and is particularly for those who bear some leadership responsibilities in a parish, or, for those who would like to. The cost of the two day encounter will be paid by the Parish, along with accommodation for the Friday night. Please see Fr Mick for more details.
