Reflection: Third Sunday Easter

EXPLORING THE WORD

This long gospel text has three movements:

the extraordinary catch of fish; the meal on the shore, with obvious Eucharistic overtones; and the dialogue with Peter, which contains his commissioning as leader of the flock.

The great haul of fish of so many varieties indicates that the Good News of the Gospel will take root in many nations and bring many converts, but only with the help of the Lord. Alone, they had been unsuccessful!

What are you able to achieve now that you have the Lord with you?

The open-air meal indicates that Jesus still nourishes his disciples and evokes the many meals that Jesus shared with his followers.

In what ways does the Eucharist continue to nourish those who follow the risen Lord?

Jesus' dialogue with Peter establishes that love is the basis from which a genuine Christian ministry of service springs. Along with other gospel texts, this passage reinforces the role given to Peter as the future leader of the flock, the one who entrusted with the task of caring for the sheep after the Shepherd has gone.

'Do you love me?' How might you answer this question from Jesus?

Symbols and Images

The image of the boat is an ancient image for the church. The enormous catch of fish symbolises the success that the disciples will have in becoming 'fishers of men' and leading people to belief in the risen Christ. The reason for the precise number of 153 remains a mystery.

Pray these words with Peter this week:

Lord, you know everything, you know that I love you.
