Reflection - 30th Sunday

This is the final public encounter between Jesus and his enemies in Matthew's Gospel. They are seeking to expose his lack of professional knowledge of the Scriptures or to trap him into giving more weight to one of the Ten Commandments, which are viewed as equally important. Jesus cuts the ground from under them. No-one could argue with his answer! But if the dual command of love was present in the Jewish Law, what new thing did Jesus bring? His originality places love of God and love of neighbour together. It is not possible to love God and despise people. God and the human situation are intimately interwoven. This is shown most perfectly in the person of Jesus himself—Son of Man and Son of God; fully human and fully divine. Followers of Jesus must also embody the dual commandment of love.

*Do you find it easier to love God or love other people?
Are there ways you can make your response to the great commandment more balanced?
Do you struggle with achieving a balance between the two commandments? Is it easier to love God and ignore those around you or are you drawn to people but find it difficult to be truly attentive to God?
The term 'love' can be overused and undervalued in today's world. At the end of each day this week, spend a few moments reflecting on how you experienced God's love today and how you extended God's love to others.*

St Paul describes what love is like in a beautiful passage in his first letter to the Corinthians.

Pray over these verses this week.

*Love is always patient and kind; it is never jealous.
Love is never boastful or conceited; it is never rude or selfish; it does not take offence and is not resentful.
Love takes no pleasure in other people's sins, but delights in the truth. It is always ready to excuse, to trust, to hope, to endure whatever comes.*
