return as ordained priests to serve here.

Please give a generous donation today or begin a monthly donation to support the education of our seminarians. Special envelopes are provided in the Reflection 6 Sunday Easter

Jesus has alluded to the fact that he is going away but that he will one day return. In the meantime, the disciples—the community to whom John is writing his gospel—are living in the 'in-between times'.
Jesus has come once in the flesh and has promised to return at the end of the world, so this instruction is a continuation of the teaching on how disciples should live out their faith in Jesus' absence: they must keep his word, the word of God. And the Word was made flesh and dwelt among us (John 1:14).

They will not be alone in this task, as Jesus has promised to send the Advocate or the Holy Spirit, who will continue to unfold the word

DID YOU KNOW?

The meaning of the word advocate is 'one who is summoned to help another'.

- Another term commonly used for the Holy Spirit is Paraclete, which comes from a Greek term meaning 'called to the side of ' and so has the same meaning as advocate.
- In the Hebrew Scriptures, peace was one of the distinguishing marks of the time of the Messiah—a time when swords would be made into ploughshares (Isaiah 2:4) and the wolf would live with the lamb (Isaiah 11:6). Jesus' gift of peace confirms that he is the longed-for Messiah.

In conferring the gift of peace on his disciples, Jesus is preparing them for his departure and his absence. This will be a trial for the disciples, but the peace of Christ and the Holy Spirit will help them to understand his return to the Father and to be confident that they too will one day make that journey
