Come back to me...

Today, the 4th Sunday of Lent, we hear what is perhaps the greatest of Jesus' parables, the Parable of the Prodigal Son. Or perhaps it should be called the parable of the prodigal Father?! While the young man is extravagant in his living and wasting of his father's freely given gift – the father is equally lavish, almost recklessly, with his loving forgiveness.

It is a parable then, which focuses upon the extravagance of God, rather than the sinful human being. It begins, like all parables, in a familiar world - yet soon takes us into a strangely unfamiliar world. Our familiarity with today's parable risks dulling its tremendously powerful message and invitation. This world is the world of the Kingdom of Heaven, and the way to such an inheritance.

A father has two sons. One son has demanded his inheritance and now made off. This was a huge insult to the father who, still alive, obligingly gives all that is his. The son squanders the gift and returns to his father. Even the son's motivation for returning perhaps wasn't that pure. He had lost everything... there was no more, where was he to now go?

But here is where the familiar world escapes us... We hear, the Father, in the most undignified way for a man of his time, runs now to his son at first sight of his return! This is the God who runs to meet us, and so destroys all preconceived ideas of who God is and how he acts.

The son has prepared his return home speech, and is ready to go... 'I am no longer worthy to be called your son!' he recites. Yet as he arrives, before he can even finish, the father stops him. As soon as the son utters the word 'worthy', the Father cuts him off. Why? Because it's never a case of being worthy! The Father loves the son and rejoices at his return, not because he is worthy, but because he is a beloved son! The truth is... the son has not earned the Father's love, and never could. And herein lies the greater truth for you and I...

At the same time, we see the older son standing far off, angered, and refusing to come near! And the extraordinary truth is... he too is stuck in the same worldly logic of worthiness... The same pigsty his brother had fallen prey too. He recounts: "All these years I have slaved for you and never once disobeyed your orders..." that is to say: 'I'm worthy to be called your son! I've earned your love!'

But again, God the Father echoes to him, and indeed to you and I. "I love you not because you have earned it, nor proven yourself, nor satisfied my demands... No, I love you because you are mine. You are my beloved son; you are my beloved daughter!" For this reason: "you are with me always, and all I have is yours!"

Friends, God speaks a powerful invitation to us in this season of Lent. Come back to me with all your heart! (Joel 2:12, Hos. 11:1-9). And at times it takes great courage from the human heart to do so. May this be the Lent when we, whether we find ourselves echoed in the younger or older son... see our Heavenly Father, who runs to us – to heal every burden, and wipe every tear away.

With every prayer,
Fr Trenton

First Reading

Jos 5:9-12

The Lord said to Joshua, 'Today I have taken the shame of Egypt away from you.' The Israelites pitched their camp at Gilgal and kept the Passover there on the fourteenth day of the month, at evening in the plain of Jericho. On the morrow of the Passover they tasted the produce of that country, unleavened bread and roasted ears of corn, that same day. From that time, from their first eating of the produce of that country, the manna stopped falling. And having manna no longer, the Israelites fed from that year onwards on what the land of Canaan yielded.

Second Reading

2 Cor 5:17-21

For anyone who is in Christ, there is a new creation; the old creation has gone, and now the new one is here. It is all God's work. It was God who reconciled us to himself through Christ and gave us the work of handing on his reconciliation. In other words, God in Christ was reconciling the world to himself, not holding men's faults against them, and he has entrusted to us the news that they are reconciled. So we are ambassadors for Christ; it is as though God were appealing through us, and the appeal that we make in Christ's name is: be reconciled to God. For our sake God made the sinless one into sin, so that in him we might become the goodness of God.

Gospel

Lk 15:1-3. 11-32

The tax collectors and the sinners were all seeking the company of Jesus to hear what he had to say, and the Pharisees and the scribes complained. 'This man' they said 'welcomes sinners and eats with them.' So he spoke this parable to them: 'A man had two sons. The younger said to his father, "Father, let me have the share of the estate that would come to me." So the father divided the property between them. A few days later, the younger son got together everything he had and left for a distant country where he squandered his money on a life of debauchery. 'When he had spent it all, that country experienced a severe famine, and now he began to feel the pinch, so he hired himself out to one of the local inhabitants who put him on his farm to feed the pigs. And he would willingly have filled his belly with the husks the pigs were eating but no one offered him anything. Then he came to his senses and said, "How many of my father's paid servants have more food than they want, and here am I dying of hunger! I will leave this place and go to my father and say: Father, I have sinned against heaven and against you; I no longer deserve to be called your son; treat me as one of your paid servants." So he left the place and went back to his father. 'While he was still a long way off, his father saw him and was moved with pity. He ran to the boy, clasped him in his arms and kissed him tenderly. Then his son said, "Father, I have sinned against heaven and against you. I no longer deserve to be called your son." But the father said to his servants, "Quick! Bring out the best robe and put it on him; put a ring on his finger and sandals on his feet. Bring the calf we have been fattening, and kill it; we are going to have a feast, a celebration, because this son of mine was dead and has come back to life; he was lost and is found." And they began to celebrate. 'Now the elder son was out in the fields, and on his way back, as he drew near the house, he could hear music and dancing. Calling one of the servants he asked what it was all about. "Your brother has come" replied the servant "and your father has killed the calf we had fattened because he has got him back safe and sound." He was angry then and refused to go in, and his father came out to plead with him; but he answered his father, "Look, all these years I have slaved for you and never once disobeyed your orders, yet you never offered me so much as a kid for me to celebrate with my friends. But for this son of yours, when he comes back after swallowing up your property – he and his women – you kill the calf we had been fattening." 'The father said, "My son, you are with me always and all I have is yours. But it is only right we should celebrate and rejoice, because your brother here was dead and has come to life; he was lost and is found."
