ENTRANCE ANTIPHON: O sing a new song to the Lord, for he has worked wonders; in the sight of the nations he has shown his deliverance, alleluia.

RESPONSORIAL PSALM: I will praise you, Lord, in the assembly of your people.

GOSPEL ACCLAMATION: Alleluia, alleluia! Live in me and let me live in you, says the Lord; my branches bear much fruit. Alleluia!

COMMUNION ANTIPHON: I am the true vine and you are the branches, says the Lord. Whoever remains in me, and I in him, bears fruit in plenty, alleluia.

THE CREED – THE CHARTER OF OUR FAITH – PART IV

The Nicene Creed begins with the phrase, "I believe in one God." Our God is a unity-in-community (Trinity) enfolding all believers into Itself, so that we may dwell in, and live by, God's life, God's vitality.

Our speech about God is always based on analogy. Our language shuffles between what is known in our experience (finite reality) and what is unknown in the divine reality (infinite reality). Thus, our language will always come up short.

We call God Father, not in order to glorify parental power and authority. We name God Father because that is the relationship Jesus has with God. Throughout the Gospel he always refers to God as his Abba. For Christians we proclaim God as Father in order to accent the transcendent, utter freedom of God.

We also call God "the Father almighty". Therefore there is nothing outside of God's creative and providential hope. Some authors have stated that to use the term "Almighty" is to express a limitless hope.

God the Father is "maker of heaven and earth." God is uniquely the Creator, and God's creative will acts out of sheer originality. At the source of all, creation is the exuberance of infinite love: everyone and everything is primarily a gift. As sheer gift, the universe is made 'out of nothing.' God's creative love encompasses both heaven and earth, to bring the two together into one blessed creation.

"Of all things visible and invisible" – This insight is stated beautifully in the First Preface of Christmas – "In Him we see our God made visible, and so are caught up in the love of the God we cannot see."

Next week we will reflect on the longest part of the Creed, the section devoted to the Incarnation ('incarnus' – the enfleshment) of God's Son, Jesus the Christ, our Risen Lord and Saviour.

Readings of the Day – 5th Sunday of Easter —Year B

First Reading

Acts 9:26-31

When Saul got to Jerusalem he tried to join the disciples, but they were all afraid of him: they could not believe he was really a disciple. Barnabas, however, took charge of him, introduced him to the apostles, and explained how the Lord had appeared to Saul and spoken to him on his journey, and how he had preached boldly at Damascus in the name of Jesus. Saul now started to go round with them in Jerusalem, preaching fearlessly in the name of the Lord. But after he had spoken to the Hellenists, and argued with them, they became determined to kill him. When the brothers knew, they took him to Caesarea, and sent him off from there to Tarsus. The churches throughout Judaea, Galilee and Samaria were now left in peace, building themselves up, living in the fear of the Lord, and filled with the consolation of the Holy Spirit.

Second Reading

1 Jn 3:18-24

My children, our love is not to be just words or mere talk, but something real and active; only by this can we be certain that we are the children of the truth and be able to quieten our conscience in his presence, whatever accusations it may raise against us, because God is greater than our conscience and he knows everything. My dear people, if we cannot be condemned by our own conscience, we need not be afraid in God's presence, and whatever we ask him, we shall receive, because we keep his commandments and live the kind of life that he wants. His commandments are these: that we believe in the name of his Son Jesus Christ and that we love one another as he told us to. Whoever keeps his commandments lives in God and God lives in him. We know that he lives in us by the Spirit that he has given us.

Gospel Reading

Jn 15:1-8

Jesus said to his disciples: 'I am the true vine, and my Father is the vinedresser. Every branch in me that bears no fruit he cuts away, and every branch that does bear fruit he prunes to make it bear even more. You are pruned already, by means of the word that I have spoken to you. Make your home in me, as I make mine in you. As a branch cannot bear fruit all by itself, but must remain part of the vine, neither can you unless you remain in me. I am the vine, you are the branches. Whoever remains in me, with me in him, bears fruit in plenty; for cut off from me you can do nothing. Anyone who does not remain in me is like a branch that has been thrown away – he withers; these branches are collected and thrown on the fire, and they are burnt. If you remain in me and my words remain in you, you may ask what you will and you shall get it. It is to the glory of my Father that you should bear much fruit, and then you will be my disciples.'
