Dear Parishioners and Visitors to Saint Christopher's Cathedral Parish,

In these days we celebrate the feast of Epiphany of Our Lord, and meditate upon the "manifestation" of Christ, as the One who has come to save us. Pope Francis speaks of how Jesus reveals Himself to all the nations in a gentle light that shines in humble love. He notes "the symbol... is light, which reaches and enlightens everything." The manner in which God reveals Himself however, is surprising. The Gospels contrast the powerful of the earth and their palaces with the humble abode where Jesus is born. A God who does not impose, but offers Himself. "None of the powerful of the time realised that the Lord of history was born exactly in their days... and herein lies the surprise: God does not emerge at the forefront of the world in order to manifest Himself."

The Epiphany is a 'many-faceted' mystery. In the Latin tradition it is closely linked to the visit of the Magi and the revelation to the Gentiles. In the East, focus is given to Jesus' Baptism and His manifestation as the Beloved Son of the Father. The Gospel of John places us at the Wedding of Cana, where changing water into wine, Jesus "manifested his glory; and his disciples believed in him" (John 2:11).

When we focus on the Magi it is the star which often takes centre stage (Matt 2:1-12). The Magi were astronomers, who, in accordance with the scriptures having noticed the appearance of a unique star, understood this celestial marvel as the announcement of the birth of a king (Num 24:17). In effect, while pagan theology divinized the elements and forces of the cosmos, the Christian faith, in bringing the biblical Revelation to fulfilment, contemplates only one God, who is Creator, Master and Lord of the whole universe.

Reflecting upon the Epiphany, Pope Emeritus Benedict XVI observed how: "Christian thought compares the cosmos to a "book" [...] Galileo said this as well, considering it as the work of an Author who expresses himself in the "symphony" of the Creation. In this symphony is found, at a certain point, what might be called in musical terminology a "solo", a theme given to a single instrument or voice; and it is so important that the significance of the entire work depends on it. This "solo" is Jesus, who is accompanied by a royal sign: the appearance of a new star in the firmament. Jesus is compared by ancient Christian writers to a new sun. ...The Son of man himself [therefore] epitomises the earth and Heaven, the Creation and the Creator, the flesh and the Spirit. He is the centre of the cosmos and of history...."

The Epiphany "is the manifestation of the Lord and as a reflection, it is the manifestation of the Church, since the Body is inseparable from the Head." Such a thought ties into Pope Francis' own observation of this feast of 'light'. The Church Benedict says "is the humble mystery of reflected light. The Church is humanity illuminated, "baptized" in the glory of God, that is in his love, in his beauty, in his dignity. Benedict continued: "The Church knows that her own humanity, with its limitations and wretchedness, serve especially to highlight the work of the Holy Spirit. She can boast of nothing, save in her Lord. It is not from her that light comes; the glory is not hers. But this is precisely her joy, which no one can take from her: to be a "sign and instrument" of the One who is "lumen gentium", the light of humanity (Lumen gentium, 1). Let us rejoice on this feast, in the manifestation of the true Light, and glory Who has unveiled Himself to the world (John 12:46) – the One who comes to us, and not only to us, but uses us, His Church, to be a light and revelation of God's love to the nations.

First Reading

Is 60:1-6

Arise, shine out, Jerusalem, for your light has come, the glory of the Lord is rising on you, though night still covers the earth and darkness the peoples. Above you the Lord now rises and above you his glory appears. The nations come to your light and kings to your dawning brightness. Lift up your eyes and look round: all are assembling and coming towards you, your sons from far away and your daughters being tenderly carried. At this sight you will grow radiant, your heart throbbing and full; since the riches of the sea will flow to you; the wealth of the nations come to you; camels in throngs will cover you, and dromedaries of Midian and Ephah; everyone in Sheba will come, bringing gold and incense and singing the praise of the Lord.

Second Reading

Eph 3:2-3. 5-6

You have probably heard how I have been entrusted by God with the grace he meant for you, and that it was by a revelation that I was given the knowledge of the mystery. This mystery that has now been revealed through the Spirit to his holy apostles and prophets was unknown to any men in past generations; it means that pagans now share the same inheritance, that they are parts of the same body, and that the same promise has been made to them, in Christ Jesus, through the gospel.

Gospel Reading

Mt 2:1-12

After Jesus had been born at Bethlehem in Judaea during the reign of King Herod, some wise men came to Jerusalem from the east. 'Where is the infant king of the Jews?' they asked. 'We saw his star as it rose and have come to do him homage.' When King Herod heard this he was perturbed, and so was the whole of Jerusalem. He called together all the chief priests and the scribes of the people, and enquired of them where the Christ was to be born. 'At Bethlehem in Judaea,' they told him, 'for this is what the prophet wrote: And you, Bethlehem, in the land of Judah, you are by no means least among the leaders of Judah, for out of you will come a leader who will shepherd my people Israel.'

Then Herod summoned the wise men to see him privately. He asked them the exact date on which the star had appeared, and sent them on to Bethlehem. 'Go and find out all about the child,' he said 'and when you have found him, let me know, so that I too may go and do him homage.' Having listened to what the king had to say, they set out. And there in front of them was the star they had seen rising; it went forward and halted over the place where the child was. The sight of the star filled them with delight, and going into the house they saw the child with his mother Mary, and falling to their knees they did him homage. Then, opening their treasures, they offered him gifts of gold and frankincense and myrrh. But they were warned in a dream not to go back to Herod, and returned to their own country by a different way.
